

Markets are Moral

A debate chaired by Brigitte Granville

Panelists include:

The RH Charles Clarke MP
Professor Lord Robert Skidelsky
Jean Pierre Landau, Deputy Governor, Bank of France
Sarah Brosnan, Emory University

Tuesday 24 April 2007 at 6pm

Mason Lecture Theatre
The Francis Bancroft Building,
Queen Mary, University of London,
Mile End Road, London
E1 4NS

A reception will follow the debate in the Octagon

RSVP on attached card

'Markets are Moral'

Tuesday 24 April 2007 at 6pm

Please complete, detach and return the form below. Alternatively, contact the Events Office via email at events@qmul.ac.uk

Please delete as appropriate

- I shall/shall not attend the lecture
 I shall/shall not attend the reception

Name: _____

Job Title: _____

Organisation: _____

Address: _____

Tel: _____

email: _____

If you have special requirements, please detail below:

- Please send me the termly Queen Mary Events Leaflet
 I studied at Queen Mary

Subject: _____

Year: _____

Return to: Events Office Inaugural Lecture (24.04.07),
Queen Mary, University of London, Mile End, London E1 4NS

Are markets moral?

The widely held model of amoral capitalism suggests not. But is this a real portrait of private sector economics or a distorted cartoon, perpetuated by ideologues from both the left and the right, in the face of the real evidence?

The Centre for Globalisation Research (CGR) at the School of Business and Management, Queen Mary University of London, in collaboration with the Gruter Institute for Law and Behavioral Research, is sponsoring a classic debate on this important question.

This debate is the culmination of more than two years of coordinated research on the role of values in free enterprise. It will bring together two teams of rigorous, passionate and articulate academics, business practitioners, policy makers, and opinion shapers. They will propose and oppose a simple resolution: Markets Are Moral. Along with their formal speeches pro and con, the debaters will field questions from the audience. Be part of this compelling clash of ideas and decide for yourself whether selfishness, values or both are at the core of a market-based economy.

Speakers on the motion include:
The RH Charles Clarke MP, Professor Lord Robert Skidelsky, Jean Pierre Landau, Deputy Governor, Bank of France, Sarah Brosnan, Emory University

The debate will be chaired by Brigitte Granville.

Map

www.qmul.ac.uk/about/campus/mileend/virtual/index.html

This debate is kindly supported by the John Templeton Foundation