Workshop on Innovation – January, 24, 2014

The format of this conference will be an intimate setting with colleagues in economics, biology, law and finance, in both the academic and applied domains, sharing ideas across many different disciplines. Given your diverse backgrounds, we ask the persons listed under each topic to consider themselves as prompting conversation with approximately 5 minutes of introductory remarks. We understand that some of you will prefer speaking tools while others may speak less formally; either approach is welcome.
